Pay toll by plate

You may be able to pay a toll in a toll with a debit card, but the accepted forms of payment vary depending on the level to which the toll system is operated. Toll structures can be managed by the state, regional or private property and private property. There are only two states that accept deb cards in all the positions of turnpike and booth operated by State: moreover, Michigan accepts debit cards to select bridges. (Find out more in our list of toll payment options by the underlying state.) The payment forms accepted for toll cabins at regional level and privately can vary within the same state. More and more quickly, toll structures are moving towards electronic payments only payments - Pay-by-Plate programs or electronic transponders such as E-ZPASS. Some toll structures do not even booths to which you can stop and pay. However, if the toll booths are still available, the structure can also accept cash, credit cards, debit cards or tokens. Pay-by-plate and electronic payment methods of the transponder at the toll with Pay-by-Plate programs, a photo or a plate video will be taken when driving through the toll without paying, and you will receive an invoice in the mail For the amount you have to. Most of the facilities charge unpaid tolls with a debit or credit card online, on the phone or by mail. It is important to note that some positions charge higher tolls (including processing and declaration fees) for driving through a toll without paying. If you frequently go on toll roads and want to pay with debit card (and potentially avoid toll lines), you may consider buying an electronic transponder and connect your debit card payment / control account for payment. E-ZPASS is the most common transponder and can be used in different states, including Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Virginia e Western Virginia. Some states have their electronic transponder systems, such as the SunPass and the Texas Texas of Florida. The lanes of high-employment vehicles some congested areas, such as motorways in California and Virginia, offer high-stay vehicles (HOV) or high-occupancy tolls (hot) lanes to promote carpooling and driving sharing. These can also be called À € á - À "Express lanes. À »These lanes are only available for vehicles that lead at least two (sometimes three) people, and are often much less congested than normal traffic lanes. Single-use vehicles can pay a toll to use Hov lanes; This toll is paid with an electronic transponder or a Pay-By-Plate system. Tolls are applied by the monitoring of the police and the motorway patrol, as well as from the verification points that will divide the HOV lane into two and capture the license plates of those who declare a single occupation. There are fines for single use vehicles captured using HOV lanes without paying the toll; Motorcycles are the exception to this and are authorized to use HOV lanes even with only one passenger. There are no physical positions of toll chain for HOV lanes, then tolls (and fines) can be paid using a debit / control card account, just like other electronic transponder and pay-by-plate toll programs. Some e-ZPASS versions can also be set to HOV mode and loads accordingly. The list of toll payments accepted by State have completed the following list of toll structures and theirs payment accepted by contacting the toll authorities and the display of official toll timetables on their websites.
